Artikel info:-

A specific sample library for film soundtrack purposes - this is Strictly Cinema. The huge list of content provides exactly this what is on demand to make a great cinematic sound: Orchestral scenes and runs and effects, dramatic droners, effects divided into the categories short and medium size as well as swoosh and repeater effects.

Also the library gives access to a huge collection of ready-to-use scenes up to 30 seconds and longer. They are produced with high-end gear as well as classic vintage equipment. Evolving atmospheres by hitting just one key on the keyboard, and some are also playable like pads. Additional musical accents round up this library section.

Voice effects, vocoders, cartoon sounds plus a large noise section and finally a long list of typical movie sound acoustic percussions and electronic percussions already programmed with great hall and ambience effects.

Plus: A special environmental sections with looped and one-shot samples of machines like air compressor, generator, chip and drill machine, motors and steelworks, gas station noises, trains and car wash sounds deliver the off the field atmospheres and can also nicely mixed with real instrument samples for unusual sound stacks.
